INTRODUCTION

Take5 is an audio-visual production agency domiciled in Ugandan capital Kampala, Uganda.

The company was set up to meet the growing demand for professional production services.

Our core business is premised on content production for international channels, program development for national broadcast, Sports production, documentaries and production of cooperate video.

We also do consultancies and trainings in media skills for both media houses and cooperate communications teams.

Our expertise is drawn from vast experience backed prior professional training in broadcast industry.

Take5 was co-founded by Ugandan journalists Justin Dralaze and Joshua Mmali, who set out to put quality first.

Justin who was trained in the Netherlands, has immense experience in news and feature production, having worked with Thomson Reuters covering Africa for years. Joshua Mmali, now a News Producer at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, was the bureau manager/correspondent for the BBC World Service for six years.

Take5 production has incorporated experienced journalists with vast experience in News and Features Production.

Team have assembled versatile team of Video journalists who have all undergone rigorous training and are able to produce cutting edge products to the satisfaction of our clients.
